My First Day at School

My first day at school was a special day. I was very excited but also a little scared. I woke up early, got ready, and went to school with my parents.

When I reached the school, I saw many children. Some were happy, and some were crying. A kind teacher took me to my classroom. The room was big and colorful. There were many desks, chairs, and a blackboard.

Our teacher introduced herself and asked our names. She told us fun stories and taught us some new words. I made new friends and played with them during the break.

At the end of the day, I was happy. My first day at school was full of fun and learning. I will always remember this special day.

Victory Day of Bangladesh

Victory Day of Bangladesh is celebrated on 16th December every year. It marks the day when Bangladesh became independent in 1971 after winning the Liberation War.

On this day, people remember the brave fighters who fought for freedom. The day is celebrated with pride.

In the morning, the national flag is raised, and there are parades and events. People also visit the National Memorial in Savar to honor the heroes.

Victory Day is an important day for all Bangladeshis, reminding them of the hard work and sacrifices made for independence.

A Journey by Train

One day, I went on a train ride. I was very excited. I reached the station early and waited for the train. There were many people on the platform.

When the train came, I found my seat. The train was comfortable with big windows. As the train moved, I looked outside. I saw fields, rivers, and villages.

The train stopped at a few places. People got on and off. Some ate snacks, and others read books. I enjoyed looking outside.

After some time, the train reached my stop. I got off, feeling happy about the nice journey.

A Book Fair

A book fair is a place where many books are sold. People from different places come to see and buy books. I went to a book fair last week and had a great time.

The fair was held in a large hall with many stalls. Each stall had different kinds of books, like storybooks, comics, and educational books. I saw many children and adults looking at the books.

I bought a few books for reading. The books were colorful and interesting. There were also some events like book signings and readings.

The book fair was a wonderful place to explore new books and meet other book lovers. I enjoyed my visit and can't wait to go again.
